March 22, 2018: Habitat for Humanity of Greater Jonesboro is hosting a groundbreaking for the Jonesboro-University Rotary Club Habitat for Humanity Housing Partnership. Through this partnership, Jonesboro-University Rotary has also committed volunteers to help educate selected homeowners and volunteers to help build. University Rotary President, Derek Dodd, had this to say about the partnership, "This is a great partnership. Jonesboro has so many people in need and we are proud to be associated with Habitat for this project to help make Jonesboro a better place. Rotary is about service above self and we are all about helping locally and globally."

The groundbreaking is scheduled for Monday, March 26, 2018, at 4:30 P.M on the 400 Block of Belt Street, Jonesboro, Arkansas. Habitat supporters, volunteers, and the community are invited to attend. Construction on the first home for this project will begin in the upcoming months.
